“ To the Brinkley and Nelson families, my sincere condolences. I will always remember her from Union Baptist Church (her walk, style of clothing, smile and soft-spoken words) "aka Miss Diva"; God created beauty in those He loved. While your beloved rests while waiting to transition her body by the call of Jesus, her spirit will live eternally of the hearts she has touched during her life here on earth. Grieving is hard, acceptance is even harder to digest; but, knowing her spirit, faith and belief in the Heavenly Father, rests assure, Darryl, Michael, and Alissa (Lisa), lean on each other and love on each other through the memories shared, and I pray that God gives your broken hearts healing and strength to get through tomorrow as you prepare for your mother's final resting place. To Rose Carter, you stand strong and keep your faith as your also prepare for tomorrow's homegoing celebration of your niece's life. Peaceful spirit of Mrs. Annie Brinkley lives on.

“ My sincere prayers and condolences to the Brinkley Family. I know this will be a difficult road ahead for the family, but God will see each of you through this difficult time. I didn't see her often but whenever I did, she always greeted me with much Love and Kindness. She had such a sweet spirit and never spoke above a whisper. She was a Diva in her own right, always dressed and looking like a million dollars. She was in a class by herself. Rest well Ms. Annie, you will be missed.

Sincerely,

Twindol James Prater
