“ I still revisit this page from time to time because it seems so surreal that you are gone. I seen SCATES while driving through NJ turnpike and thought about how you loved to skate. Your energy is so pure I can still feel the joy, kindness and curiosity you brought to your world. I love you, friend. I miss you so dearly. I hope you are skating through the galactic universe and teaching other spirits what you learned about metaphysics while you were here on planet earth.
